Citizen Von — Voted Best!

Last Thursday, the Covina Chamber of Commerce held it's annual fete whereby it honored our own Shirley Von as the Citizen of the Year. Tom Falls in all his finery provided the requisite amount of decorum in the presentation, while Rich Jett and Ross Porter provided the rest of the roast. CSR had three tables full of supporters / hecklers on hand to make Shirley feel at home although there was a noticeable absence of airborne food items. Pam Pomeroy supplied an assortment of party favors to augment the hooting and hollering but unfortunately, the noisemakers were missing the necessary audio components.

The President's Massage

Good Morning, the most the exciting news I have to report is that the board acted on the membership's suggestions from the assembly to discontinue Christmas in October. The board moved to discontinue Christmas in October. The other good news is that all those who attended the assembly will get a gold star and billed $15.00 each for the pleasure of attending the assembly.

Thank you again for all your suggestions.

Congratulations to Shirley on her being honored as Citizen of the Year!

Good job on mixing up the seating arrangements last week. Who said you can't teach old dogs new tricks? And a special congratulations to Bull for, after 20 years, being able to stake claim to his own table. There is hope for all of us, never give up the dream! Check your calendars, Super Bowl Party at Terry Wysocki's February 1 and Symposium Dinner at Bobbi Kemp's, check the date.

Never to early to start thinking of the Auction, May 15. Start looking for those donations and ticket sales. Let's build up the hype for our best Auction to date.

Gotta go. I think I have writer's block because I'm anxious to see my new picture.

— John

Today's Program:

Today's speaker will be the Chairman Of The Board. No, not Sinatra, but Rich Jett of the Covina Valley Health Partners Foundation. Rich will be speaking about "The Future of Health Care".

Joke Of The Week:

A soldier was given the job of hunting for buffalo. To help him, he hired an Indian Scout. The two of them set off on their journey to find buffalo. After riding awhile, the Indian gets off his horse, puts his ear to the ground and says "Hmmm, buffalo come"! The soldier scans the area with his binoculars, but sees nothing. He is confused and says to the Indian, "I do not see anything, how do you know buffalo come"? and the Indian replies, "ear sticky".

Fellows Wanted

For a fellowship dinner, of course! Although we're still looking for a better name for it, we're starting off this year with Bobbi hosting a an evening at her place on February 7th. The "Symposium" as it's sometimes called, is just a way for members old and new to get together in a fun place (not that our meetings are boring).

A sign up sheet will be going around in the immediate future so check with the spouse and (in the words of John Daly) sign in please.

Who Is This?

Last week's celebrity was Terry Wysocki (now that you've forgotten the picture).

This week, the letters of our mystery Rotarian's name have been scattered around several copies of the Squeeze in the lower right corner of this article. Collect all the letters and unscramble them for this week's exciting name!
